D. A. R. Convention Ends Session With Election of Officers

Mrs. C. B. Rendleman of Little Rock Named State Regent

VISIT OLD CEMETERY

Honor Memories of Revolutionary Soldiers Buried at Washington

The 24th annual state conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution brought to an end its three-day meeting at Hope city hall Thursday morning with the election of officers.

Mrs. Samuel Preston Davis presiding, the conference chose the following state officers:

State Regent, Mrs. C. B. Rendleman, Little Rock. Vice Regent, Mrs. R. N. Garrett, El Dorado. Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Pryor, Little Rock. Librarian, Miss Nell Wilson, Little Rock. Curator, Mrs. Frank Steele, De Queen. Historian, Miss Virginia Cline, Monticello. Parliamentarian, Mrs. W. E. Massey, Hot Springs. Advisory Board, Mrs. Paul Heerwagen, Fayetteville, Mrs. W. H. Arnold, Texarkana.

Mrs. W. H. Arnold of Texarkana was also elected at Honorary State Regent. Next year's convention city will be selected at a meeting of the board to be held this fall.

The final session opened at 9 o'clock at the city hall, with the call to order issued by Mrs. Charles E. Rendleman, state vice regent, and invocation by Mrs. W. I. Gregson, state chaplain.

The election was the main order of business Thursday morning, followed by the reports of the committees on credentials and auditing.

Following the final business meeting, the members of the conference motored to Boughton for luncheon with the Benjamin Culp chapter, at the home of Miss Lawrence Britt, the guest of honor being Mrs. Martin L. Sigmon, of Monticello.

Memberships Grows

The Arkansas conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution was called to order at 9 a. m. Wednesday by Mrs. William A. Arnold, state regent. The invocation was by Mrs. W. I. Gregson, state chaplain. A vocal solo was given by Miss Martha Jean Winburn of Arkadelphia. Music by Mrs. Pratt Bacon of Texarkana was followed by reports of committees and state officers. Dr. Flora Myers Gillette of Arkadelphia spoke on "Washington, the Man." Reports of chapter regents showed a remarkable growth in membership, as well as much worth-while work.

The conference endorsed Dr. Gillette, national historian general, for national president in 1935.

The Matthews Locke chapter of De Queen entertained the delegates and officers at a luncheon with Mrs. Frank Steele presiding, honoring Mrs. Sigmon, vice president general. The pages were entertained at luncheon at the New Capital hotel.

Visit Washington

The afternoon session was held at the Washington Baptist church. The invocation was by the Rev. W. E. Elmore. Music was furnished by the Friday Music Club Chorus of Hope. A memorial service was conducted by Mrs. W. I. Gregson, state chaplain. Officers were introduced by Miss Mary Catts. Talks were made by Miss Eno and Miss Byrl Henry.

After the service the conference went to the new Washington cemetery to dedicate monuments. After a prayer by the Rev. J. L. Leonard, a sketch of Mrs. Sarah Anne, daughter of a Revolutionary soldier, was read by Miss Warren of Pine Bluff, a granddaughter, who placed a wreath. A sketch of Benjamin Clark, a Revolutionary soldier, was read by Mrs. Charles M. Clark Jones, a descendant.

The visit to the old cemetery was the most interesting event of the day. There probably was never a larger assembly of well-known visitors there since the Civil war, when burial there ceased. The historic burial ground lies about a quarter-mile north of the Black hotel. There rest many who were active in Arkansas affairs before the Civil war. Many old monuments are broken and the markings are barely legible. Several brick-covered graves have trees two feet thick growing out of them. The cemetery is overgrown with elms, gums, pines and magnolias, which have outnumbered the old trees originally left to beautify the spot. Miss Eno, who had charge of the dedication services, presided. The Washington High School pupils sang the Soldiers Chorus from Faust, followed by a poem read by Miss Katherine Hume. Three monuments erected to memory of Revolutionary soldiers were dedicated, as follows: John Holman, sketch by Mrs. W. W. Duckett; James Williams, sketch by Mrs. H. H. Sniley; Eli Collins, sketch by Abrams Collins Jr., wreath placed by Mary Collins.

A monument of note to the visitors was that of John Field, son of Maj. Abner Field of the Revolution. He was buried there in 1856. Noland Le-

Won't Go Home

Russia's loss will be France's gain if dark-eyed Vera Voronina (above) succeeds in winning naturalization as a French citizen. Once selected as the most beautiful girl in Moscow, she recently has been appearing in French and German films. Now she is reported to have flatly refused to obey orders to return to native Soviet Russia.

Allred Not to Run for Texas Governor

Attorney General Will Be a Candidate for Re-Election

AUSTIN.—(AP)—Attorney General James V. Allred announced Wednesday he would be a candidate for re-election to his present office.

"I have not been, am not now, and will not be a candidate for governor," Allred stated.

Politicians speculating on probable entrants in the governor's race had mentioned Allred as a possible candidate.

"I have been too busy trying to interpret and enforce the law to even think of politics," Allred said in a prepared statement.

He said he regretted speculation had drawn his name into the governor's race, and added:

"While it is a compliment to be mentioned for that high honor, I feel that it is my duty to continue to apply myself faithfully to the interests of the people in the attorney general's office."

A. & M. Economies Club Hold Election

Frances Drake of Hope Is Named Treasurer of Organization

Beatrice Alexander, Atlanta, Texas, was elected president of the Magnolia A. & M. College Home Economics Club, at a meeting Thursday, March 31. Hilma Keith, Stamps, was elected vice-president. Edna Taylor, Haynesville, La., secretary; Frances Drake, Hope, treasurer; and Myrtle Dampf, Bodeau, as reporter.

Girls who were selected to attend the state convention at Fayetteville, April 16, with Miss Backstrom, instructor, were Era Sherman, Haynesville, La., and Hilma Keith, Stamps.

Deadlock Reported In Legislature Over Refunding Measure

House Takes Action Opposite to Senate on Amendment

TURNBACK ARGUED

Senate Kills Amendment to Make Issue Direct State Obligation

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—A new legislative deadlock developed on the bond refunding question Thursday when the house, taking action directly opposite to that of the senate, adopted an amendment to the conference committee bill, striking out the provision for impounding the county turnback funds until September, for highway maintenance.

The house vote was 57 to 29. The senate defeated such an amendment Wednesday.

The senate continued to override attacks on the compromise measure voting down an amendment to make the proposed issue of revenue bonds direct state obligations.

Mitchell introduces bill. A proposed amendment which precipitated a debate of more than two hours, but which was voted down, 17 to 13, immediately after the afternoon session was convened, was presented by Senators Mitchell of Nevada county and Shaver of Cross. It would have provided for immediate payment of the so-called county turnback for rural road improvements. The committee bill, it was explained, would withhold this sum, the proceeds from the one-cent gasoline tax, until September 1.

Senator Mitchell, speaking for adoption of the amendment, insisted the county judges had been promised this aid by the government and the General Assembly, and that they are entitled to the money. "We've promised it to them and I maintain they should have it," he said. "It is not a matter of giving them something, but of taking it away from them. We are breaking faith with 85 per cent of the people of Arkansas. The county judges have gone ahead under authority we gave them and repaid the roads, bought equipment and materials, and gone into debt. We should not go back on our promise."

Opposing the amendment, Senator Bailey said the county judges could use the three-million tax to improve the roads, and explained that the refunding bill would impound the county turnback money only until September 1. Senator Caldwell, also opposing the proposed amendment, said that if other funds could be found in the state treasury to maintain the state highways until September, he would vote for the amendment. He declared, however, the committee which prepared the bill had made a careful study and was unable to solve the question except by impounding the county turnback. He said the Highway Department were "treated the same way" as the county judges. He said $84,000 of the anticipated $100,000 monthly for the county turnback would be used on the highways until September 1 under provisions of the bill.

Senator Norrell favored adoption of the amendment, declaring the state would be breaking faith with the county judges if it were defeated.

"It's not a proposition of what we would like to do, but what we can do," said Senator Hendricks. "I represent the county that would get the largest turnback of any in the state," he added, "and I realize I may bring down much criticism on my head in voting against this amendment, but I must represent the whole state."

No Money Available. Senator Norrell suggested the bill would be unconstitutional if the legislature should fail to adopt the amendment. Senator Abington declared there was no money available to pay the turnback until September 1 unless "we get it from the fund or raise the gasoline tax one cent."

Senator Shaver, one of the authors of the amendment, closed the debate. He said the senate had passed the McElhannon refunding bill which did not affect the turnback, and he could not see the consistency in voting to holding back the turnback as is provided in the committee bill.

Gillett Retains Women Officers

Male Ticket Defeated by Two-to-One Vote in Municipal Election

GILLETT.—Evidently the citizens of Gillett are well pleased with feminine rule. In the municipal election Tuesday the women received a vote of two to one over their male opponents. An unusually large vote was polled.

Those elected were: Mrs. W. W. Lowe, mayor; Mrs. D. T. Sanders, recorder; Mrs. J. A. Vazier, Mrs. A. M. Lowe, Mrs. Frank Coffman, Mrs. Henry Jones, and Miss Sibyl Youngblood, aldermen.

Hoover Reviews Army Day Parade

Senate Recesses for Event Over Protests of Norris and Dill

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—President Hoover gave a peace-time salute Wednesday to part of America's war strength, reviewing thousands of past and present military men who filed past him in an Army Day commemoration of the 15th anniversary of the nation's entry into the World war.

The president had intended to remain at the review only a half hour, pleading a press of business upon his desk. With Mrs. Hoover, however, he found it so enjoyable that both remained until the last unit had passed.

The impressive observance drew a protest from two senators who voted against the declaration of war.

Kenny Questioned In Gotham Inquiry

Large Contributor to Al Smith's Campaign Fund Before Seabury

NEW YORK.—(AP)—William F. Kenney, wealthy contractor and for nearly 15 years a close personal friend of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, was questioned for an hour and a half Wednesday by Samuel Seabury, chief lawyer of the Hofstadter Legislative Committee.

Seabury declined to say what phase of the inquiry into the Tammany municipal government resulted in the calling of Kenney.

"The examination related to matters within the government of the city of New York," was all he would say.

Kenney was a large contributor to Smith's presidential campaign fund. Last month two well-known Democrats, when suit was brought against them for payment of notes they signed during the 1928 campaign, said their signatures were obtained at a political pow-wow held in Kenney's "Tiber room," which has been described as recreational quarters set apart by the millionaire in a building he owns.

The two defendants said they were then asked to sign a blank note for $200,000 for the Smith campaign chest on the understanding they would never have to pay. Kenney was given a subpoena tentatively calling for his reappearance for another private questioning next week.

E. G. Porterfield Is Buried Thursday

Funeral for Pioneer Resident Held From Home at 3 P. M.

Funeral services for E. G. Porterfield, pioneer Hope resident who died at the family home on South Main street, Wednesday morning, were conducted from the residence Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Rev. R. O. Brunk of Texarkana and Dr. W. R. Anderson of this city were in charge of the services.

Interment was in Rose Hill cemetery.

Hobo Fails in Alibi For Co-Ed Murder

Defense Rests Case in Court Hearing at El Dorado

EL DORADO.—(AP)—Defense efforts to prove an alibi for Irvin Eddington, a hobo, charged with the slaying of Jackie Ruth Foughtblood, a co-ed of Magnolia A. & M. college, struck an obstacle Thursday when Grover Jones, brakeman failed to identify him as a traveler on the train between Winfield, La., and El Dorado, Ark.

Eddington told officers he was at Winfield at the time of the slaying. Defense rested shortly before noon.

Warm Reception

WICHITA, Kan.—Clyde Best, 21, 8 months married and 3 months separated from his 18-year-old bride, tried to pay her a visit at the home of her parents. He was greeted warmly by his father-in-law, who fired a revolver at him several times. One of the bullets penetrated Best's hat.

Frank Hawks, Ace of Speed Fliers, Is Critically Injured

Plane Crashes in Attempted Take Off From Airport Thursday

HOLDS U. S. RECORDS

Plane Plows Through the Underbrush and Lands on Rocks

WORCESTER, Mass.—(AP)—Captain Frank M. Hawks, noted speed flier and holder of many transcontinental air speed records, was critically injured Thursday when his plane crashed as he attempted to take off from the Worcester airport.

Hawks was unable to gain the 70-mile an hour speed necessary to lift the ton and a half ship from the field and the plane plowed through the underbrush, struck rocky ground and overturned at a speed of 50 miles an hour.

Hawks, unconscious, was dragged from the wreckage and taken to the Memorial hospital, where his injuries were said to consist of a probable skull fracture and serious wounds on his face.

Two Stores Held Up in 10 Minutes

Many Customers Watch Robber Pair Perform at Hot Springs

HOT SPRINGS.—Two men, unmasked, early Wednesday held up and robbed the Jet Grocery Store, Silver street and Malvern avenue, getting over $15, and less than 10 minutes later held up the Kroger Grocery Store on lower Central avenue, getting $97.51.

About 20 persons were in the Jet store when the pair entered. One carried a paper bag and held a dollar bill in his hand. Only a few minutes before, Floyd Hunter, 28, clerk, 412 Henderson avenue, had given the day's receipts of over $100 to the proprietor. A customer had made a purchase and when Henderson opened the cash register he was told to "keep it open."

One of the robbers covered Henderson with a revolver and the other went behind the counter.

Disappointed at the small amount of money in the cash register, the robber struck Henderson four times on the head, knocking him down and ordered him to get the remainder of the day's receipts. Mrs. M. S. Hunt, 223 Plateau street, was standing by the counter and remonstrated with the man who struck Henderson. She and others were told to "keep quiet."

The men ran out the rear door and 10 minutes later appeared at the Kroger store, which contained about a dozen persons. One of the robbers asked Mrs. E. J. Rippe, wife of the manager, for a package of cigarettes. As soon as the cash register was opened she was ordered to "keep it open," and the same procedure used in the Jet store was followed. Rippe, who was near his wife, started to interfere, when one of the pair threatened to shoot him. Mrs. Rippe begged her husband not to interfere. The men ran out of the front door to South Border street, where they had parked their car.

Texarkana Man Guilty of Robbery

Sentence to Be Passed Later on Charges of Robbery With Gun

HOMER, La.—(AP)—Wiley Balthrop, of Texarkana, Tuesday night was convicted of robbery with firearms in connection with the holdup of Planters Bank and Trust company at Haynesville, La., January 28. Sentence will be passed later. Loot total nearly $17,000 and has never been recovered.

Balthrop was identified as one of the bank bandits by T. K. Tally, and E. A. Cotham, bank tellers; F. E. Rankin, vice president of the bank, Vester Thistle, Haynesville hardware man, and W. B. Ellis, Haynesville shoe repairer.

Bank employees testified that Balthrop was one of the three armed bandits who entered the bank and seized the cash.

Balthrop did not testify. Defense attorneys introduced L. A. Merchant, oil driller, J. C. Wade, road builder, and Perry Taylor, paper hanger, all of Overton, Texas, who testified Balthrop ate dinner with them on the day of the bank robbery. The holdup occurred about noon.

28 Made Public; Wallace Murder Probe Is Passed

Bulletins

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The House expenditures committee by a vote of 12 to 8, tabled a Democratic sponsored bill, to consolidate the war and navy departments. The sponsors claimed this bill would save one hundred million dollars.

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Replying to a demand of the house economy committee that he submit specific recommendations for reducing federal expenditures, President Hoover Thursday invited the committee to meet him at the White House Saturday morning.

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—A new sweeping denunciation of President Hoover's naval policy was issued Thursday by the navy league of the United States, charging the president with neglect of the navy and wrongly parading armaments as a scapegoat for a great increase in taxation during recent years.

Jury Sees Picture Case Is Reversed

Deny Picture Had Any Influence in Ruling on Attack Case

AUSTIN.—(AP)—Arkansas by the jury at a moving picture show while it was hearing testimony in the trial of Chris Norwood, 19, in a charge of criminal assault was held by the court of criminal appeals Wednesday to be sufficient grounds for reversal.

Norwood had been convicted of the charge in Comanche county and sentenced to five years. The conviction was reversed and the case remanded. The moving picture was entitled "Men Call It Love."

The jury denied the picture had influenced its verdict.

Judge George Christian, who wrote the opinion, stated the court was unwilling to speculate on the effect of the picture on the jury.

"The question of guilt was closely contested," the opinion stated, "Disclaiming any intention to hold in every case in which it is shown the jury has been permitted to attend a public entertainment a reversal should follow, the opinion is expressed that under the facts presented by the present record, the presumption of injury was not rebutted."

The opinion warned against permitting juries impaneled in important criminal cases to attend public entertainments or services.

Insurance Suit Is Won by Tompkins

Verdict Returned by Jury Thursday—Another Jury Is Out

The jury in the suit of J. W. Tompkins against the American and Phoenix insurance companies, in Hempstead circuit court at Washington, returned a verdict Thursday morning in favor of the plaintiff, awarding him a combined verdict of $1,000 against the insurance firms.

The case was tried Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning with many witnesses and several out-of-county attorneys.

Another case, McCombs & Co. versus J. R. Crews et al, went to the jury just afternoon Thursday, and was still out at 2 p. m.

Trial of the lawsuit of Grover N. Greedland against the Frisco Railroad company was begun Thursday afternoon.

Judge Dexter Bush was expediting procedure wherever possible and court attaches expressed the belief that the week's docket might be wound up Thursday night until the opening of criminal sessions next Monday, April 11.

Texas Slayer Is Given Life Sentence

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas.—William H. Bybee of Pampa was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment Wednesday for the dance hall killing of Deputy Constable Ollie Parks. The case went to the jury Tuesday night.

The officer was killed here March 15. He had gone to the dance hall on being informed that one of the dancers had dropped a pistol on the floor. He was shot when he demanded the surrender of the weapon.

Child Loses Life In Fall Into Well

F. Sperry, Eureka Springs, Drowns at Bottom of 45-Foot Shaft

EUREKA SPRINGS.—Floyd Sperry, seven, son of Mrs. Elsie Sperry, lost his life here Wednesday afternoon when he fell 45 feet down the shaft of an abandoned well. There was a few feet of water in the well and physicians believed he was rendered unconscious and drowned.

Floyd and other children were sliding down an embankment on Pine street near the well. The well was covered but the boards had become rotten. He slid on top of the well, the boards giving way. Children notified his mother and help was called immediately. Electric company workmen lowered lights into the well and Jim Lent, a plumber, was lowered into the well. He recovered the body. Efforts at resuscitation failed.

E. Mills to Stand Trial For Slaying Near McCaskill

Seven of Indicted Persons Plead Guilty in Court

REPORT 4 NO-BILLS

Grand Jury Takes No Action in Several Other Cases Before It

Thirty-seven indictments, 28 of which were made public, were returned by the Hempstead county grand jury at Washington late Wednesday in its first and only report of the April term of circuit court.

Publication of some of the true bills was held up because one or more of the principals involved in prospective criminal actions have not yet been arrested. Warrants in all cases were issued Wednesday night, however, it was learned Thursday.

No action was taken in the cases of Wilmer Hays, white man, and Ed Washington and Henry Wyatt, negroes, all three of whom are held in jail without bond for the murder of Alfred Wallace, aged storekeeper on the Patmos-Dixley Ferry road two months ago.

Action on these men was carried over to the October grand jury, neither indictments nor no-bills were returned at the current session.

No action was taken in the case of Jesse Hudson, Hope boy, accused of robbery by Fay Negim, local case operator.

"No bills" were returned against Fred Jackson, W. M. Faulkner, Jack Tompkins and Robert Tompkins, definitely dismissing any information against them.

Indicted For Murder. Elroy Mills was indicted for first degree murder in connection with the fatal shooting of his brother-in-law, a man named Webb, near McCaskill last winter, and his trial has been set for next Wednesday, April 13.

Russell Adams also was indicted for murder, his trial being set for Tuesday, April 12.

The following were indicted and entered pleas of guilty, with sentence to be passed by Judge Bush during the criminal session next week:

Booker Cooper, Coleman Smith, Jack Dixon and Calvin Tuffeller, all indicted for burglary and grand larceny; Otto Vines, forgery and uttering; Jim Woods, receiving stolen property; Ed Mims, burglary and grand larceny.

Other Indictments. Other indictments made public are against the following, with the defendants pleading not guilty.

Calvin Tetterler, Evan Thompson, Mayfield Thompson, Osie Cheatham, Fred McElroy, Elmo Fellows, Calvin Tetterler and Byron Simpson, Leonard Wise, Osie Cheatham and Fred McElroy, Wallace Green and Fergus Hunter, A. P. King, W. H. Biddle, Connie Leverett, Connie Leverett, Charles Greathouse, Arthur Frazier, John Young and Harry Burns, Archie Martin, Archie Martin, Jodie Fielding, Jake Rice and Sid Thomas.

Examinations before the grand jury were conducted Monday and Tuesday by Deputy Prosecuting Attorney John Vesey. The prosecuting attorney, Mildard Alford, entered the grand jury proceedings Wednesday, and will resume proceedings with the convening of criminal court by Judge Bush next Monday, April 11.

$5,000,000 Storm Relief Approved

Senate Agriculture Committee Urges Immediate Appropriation

WASHINGTON—(P)—Appropriation of $5,000,000 for relief of victims of the recent Southern tornadoes was recommended Tuesday by the Senate Agriculture committee. An attempt to obtain immediate Senate action was blocked, but Senator Black, Democrat, Alabama, author of the resolution proposing the fund, announced he would call it up Wednesday.

The money would be appropriated for loans to individuals in Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, South Carolina and Kentucky, who are suffering as a result of the recent storms in those states. Loans up to $5,000 could be made to a single individual with interest of five per cent, beginning with the fourth year.

Chairman McNary of the committee objected to immediate consideration of the measure in the Senate because he said members had not had a chance to study it.

Black said that unless relief was extended immediately it would be too late. He said the states were unable to afford the necessary help to those whose homes were destroyed.

Representative Brand, Democrat Georgia, Tuesday introduced companion resolution to the Black measure. The resolution pointed out that in Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, South Carolina and Kentucky thousands of people are homeless.

Have a Care, Doc.

Sombody told Tillie, the office stenographer, that a chiropractor could cure her neuritis. Now Tillie tells us that "A chiropractor is a guy who gets paid for what an ordinary guy gets slapped for."

Speakeasy 'Census' Begun In Gotham

Corps of 60 Dry Agents Start Compiling List of Drinking Places

NEW YORK—(P)—Prohibition enforcement agents struck in two new quarters at New York's speakeasies Tuesday.

They fingerprinted eight employees arrested in a raid on the Chimes Club in West 44th street and sent a corps of 60 out to compile a list of all places where beer and liquor may be bought.

From the Battery to the Harlem river in Brooklyn, and the Bronx, the "census" takers will cast a quizzical eye on places where patrons enter with secret passwords and on beer gardens where hawkers invite the pedestrian to quench his thirst with beer to the tunes of a six-piece orchestra.

Each will carry a map of the section of the city he is assigned to survey. On the map, he will mark on the basis of "sound information" just where each liquor resort is located.

Amos W. W. Woodcock, federal prohibition director, was in New York directing the start of the "prohibition directory" compilation. His office will issue orders for raids when it deems the time fit and proper.

The survey, it was said, should answer the oft-disputed question: "How many speakeasies has New York?"

Former Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen estimated the number at 32,000 but the present commissioner, Edward Mulrooney, asserted only a few days ago that he had never seen an estimate that came within 20,000 of the actual number.

Political Announcements

The Star is authorized to announce the following candidates subject to the action of the Democratic primary election August 9, 1932.

HEMPSTEAD COUNTY For Sheriff

EDMON M. BUTTON

Dragage Hope

For County Treasurer FRANK WARD

For Road Overseer Bodaw Township D. M. (Monroe) KENT

Far-Sighted Babies

NEW YORK.—Every new-born child is far-sighted, M. F. Julian, director of the Better Vision Institute, reports. "The reason babies are naturally far-sighted is that focusing is a muscular effort and the visual muscles have not yet had a chance to develop," he explains. "Perhaps it indicates that man was not intended for the world of minute objects he has made for himself."

The Star's Platform

CITY
Develop the resources of the municipal power plant to develop the municipal and social resources of Hope.
Move city government to 1932, and improved sanitary conditions in the city and business back-roads.
Support the Chamber of Commerce.

COUNTY
A county highway program providing for the construction of a certain number of all-weather roads each year, to gradually reduce the dirt-roads.
Political and economic support for every scientific agricultural program which offers practical benefits to Hempstead county's greatest industry.
Encourage farmer organizations, believing that co-operative effort is the practical way to the country as it is today.

STATE
Continued progress on the state highway program.
Fearless tax reform, and a more efficient government through the system of expenditures.

More For Our Tax Money

WASHINGTON correspondents seem to be agreed that something like a "tax rebellion" is sweeping the nation today.

Fundamentally, this movement is one of bitter protest against heavy municipal and state taxes. It got into the federal picture when the sales tax was proposed; and it did it because the ordinary citizens felt that there was just one more direct assault on his pocketbook. Back of it there is a widespread feeling that a steadily rising tax bill is becoming altogether too much of a burden to be borne meekly.

It is too early now to guess what will come of it. Taxes have never been popular; the present flurry may be nothing more than an intensification of the average man's perennial grumble at the financial demands of the various governments he supports. But if it lasts long enough, and becomes hot enough, it might lead to a good deal of good.

To begin with, it might convince all governmental agencies, from county trustees on up to the federal Congress, that they should spend less money. Better yet, however, is the chance that it would at last bring home to the electorate at large the terrific inefficiency and expense that any government of and by politicians always involves.

Expensive as our governments are, they can hardly cut down materially on the number of things they do. Cities cannot stop spending money lavishly on schools, police and fire departments, playgrounds and the like. County governments must continue to support courts and prosecutors, and must keep extensive road building and repair programs going. State governments must support a host of essential activities; and Uncle Sam himself, certainly, might well do more than he is doing rather than less.

The whole point is that practically every one of these activities costs a great deal more than it should—because of the waste, extravagance and graft caused by politics.

The way to lower taxes must, in the end, come through a return to efficient and honest government. When favoritism, fraud and special privilege are abolished, our various governments can give us far more than they are giving us now, and can do it for far less money.

The Hunter For Gold

THE papers didn't give very much space to the death of John E. Lee, the Montana prospector who was known in the west for decades as "Golden Jack." They just told us enough about the man to whet our appetites and make us wish we could know a little more.

"Golden Jack" was, by profession, a seeker for gold; and if there is an odder or more attractive job on earth, it is hard to think just what it may be. He had spent most of his life tramping over the western ranges, and the fortune he sought always eluded him; but even without having known the man it is not hard to guess that he had no regrets and that he would have followed the same course if he had been given a chance to start all over again.

For that is the attitude the typical gold-hunter always has; and it is because we all have a dim realization of the advantages which such a philosophy offers that we usually feel a sneaking bit of envy when we read about such chaps.

The gold-seeker is out for money, of course, and he always has, shining ahead of him somewhere, a lofty vision of great riches; but he generally knows in his heart that that vision is never going to be realized, and the knowledge doesn't disconcert him in the least. The hunt itself is satisfying enough; and there is where he has the bulge on the rest of us.

For we're all after hidden treasure, in one way or another. We all chase a vision, and we put up with monotony and self-denial and so on for year after year with the notion that the reward we'll get will make it all up to us, once we get it. But usually we never get it at all, and in the end all we have is the memory of the hunt for it.

And that, we're often forced to admit, isn't enough. Hunting for real gold on western mountains is one thing, and plugging away at a job in a city office or factory is something else again. The prospector wins even when he loses. The rest of us stake everything on the gamble for material success, and if we don't get it we're little else to fall back on.

The Army Pay Cut

FORMATION of a "citizens' national safety committee" to protest against reductions in army pay scales tentatively approved by Congress is noted in recent dispatches from Washington.

A broadside sent out by the committee asserts that the pay reduction is being supported by "pacifist, war-resister, atheist, socialist, communist, un-American and anti-American groups."

That makes it sound pretty dreadful. If those oddly-assorted groups are able to sway Congress, is there any hope for the republic?

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SUSAN CAREY, 19, finishes her course at a Chicago business school and secures her first job as secretary to ERNEST HEATH, prominent architect. She has had several discouraging experiences before this. Aspiring at one office, Susan was terrified by the advances of her would-be employer. At business school she became friendly with ROBERT DUNBAR, good-looking millionaire's son, also a student.

MRS. MITCHELL, a neighbor, calls at Susan for assistance on errands. Susan for insisting on errands for her own living and asks why she does not encourage the attention of a moody suitor, BEN LARSEN, who meets HAY PLANNERY, atmosphere in the office across the hall, and is amused by her. Susan makes a mistake in copying a letter and is in tears when a helpful stranger appears. "I'm Jack Waring," he says. Susan has no idea who he may be.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VIII

DREAMILY the girl regarded the stranger. "Jack Waring!"—where had she heard that name before? It meant nothing to Susan.

Pierson now mumbled "Miss Carey, Mr. Waring. Don't believe you've met before."

Waring bowed royally. "Delighted, I'm sure. Quite an addition to our happy little family. And now can I help the little lady?"

Although Susan hated being called "little lady" above all things she could not deny that the purring softness of Mr. Waring's voice had a soothing quality. Besides, she was utterly overcome by the flattery of the copied letter. So she extended it to this man, saying quietly, "It's spoiled. Ruined. And I did try."

Her self-control threatened to desert her. Sheer tragedy it seemed to Susan, that the beautifully neat and correct sheets, already signed by the exquisite flourish of the absent Mr. Heath, should be destroyed by her error.

"Oh, is that all?" Waring's laugh somehow reassured her. "Let me look at it." He took the limp sheets from her hand and gazed at them intently.

"Here!" Susan's eyes followed him fascinated as he led the way to her desk.

"Only the first sheet is spoiled," he said rapidly. "Copy it over. Let me see the book."

She gave it to him and he smiled. "This darn thing's all right," he observed. "All you have to do is type the first sheet over. Quick—before the boss gets back! We'll pop 'em into an envelope and nobody the wiser."

Susan gasped. Waring's eyes twinkled at her. "It's as easy as that," he cried. "Hop to it. He's lunching at the club with old Sayres. I passed them 10 minutes ago and they hadn't got to dessert. Hurry, and I'll check it with you as soon as you've finished!"

Fervish with eagerness, Susan obeyed. Her fingers flew over the familiar keys. With the obliging newcomer she checked the figures and found them correct. Then she folded the letter prayerfully, stamped it, and with a thankful heart cast it into the slot beside the elevator. Just in time, too, because the punctilious Mr. Ernest Heath emerged from the car as she turned to walk away.

"Finished that Sholl copying?" he asked, adjusting his eye-glasses. Susan nodded. "It's gone," she murmured.

Mr. Heath looked pleased. "Good," he approved firmly. "Good," Susan felt like a thief and a traitor but held her tongue.

"I can't be fired," she told herself. "I mustn't."

As the days passed Susan slipped into a fixed and demanding routine. From the moment Ernest

Susan folded the letter prayerfully and stamped it.

Heath arrived in the morning, crisply and immaculately dressed, her time, her very thoughts, were his. The little world of the office with its soft carpets, its cool breezes straying in from the lake, its ink-wells and blotters and neat, ordered way, completely absorbed her. Aunt Jessie and her nagging complaints were far away. So was the tiny cottage on the shabby street.

Susan learned many things. She learned how an unimportant caller may be courteously turned away and how an important one may be wooed to linger if early for an appointment. She learned how to keep the difficult Pierson in good humor and how to please her just but demanding employer.

One thing she could not seem to master. That was the problem of keeping Mr. Jack Waring in what Aunt Jessie would have called "his place."

Jack Waring, 33, divorced, agreeable, fond of dancing, sport cars and feminine companionship, refused to believe Susan would not flirt with him.

Waring was not used to being snubbed. In fact, he didn't know what snubs were. He turned an invulnerable armor to them. He laughed at slings. Susan seemed to him a delectable piece of femininity, incredibly innocent, a toy to be played with. She provided a pleasant sauce for his sophisticated palate.

Her very difference from the women he knew interested and attracted him. Some days he would scarcely have called her pretty. Her skin was ordinarily too pale to win his admiration. But those eyes of hers, so mellancholously eloquent, black and gray by turns! That dark, soft, curling mass of hair and those childishly pink lips, untouched by lip save. That deliciously merry laugh! All these enchanted and exasperated him.

Jack Waring had been married that lay on the desk before him. Susan gasped. "Do stop teasing me. You promised!"

"All right. But you must come out with me one day. How about the races on Saturday? Driving out with some people. Like to show you to them, you pretty thing, you."

A flag flared in the girl's cheeks. Dangerous talk, this, for a man to pour into the ears of young-and-20. Susan didn't know how to answer. It wasn't what she had dreamed of, love from the lips of a man jaded and disillusioned, but it was more tempting than she dared to admit. And what, after all, had she to do on Saturday? Oh, she would have a sandwich and glass of milk on the way home. She would away wearily from a strap in the packed and crowded street car and spend the rest of the afternoon ironing or darning the stockings Aunt Jessie had saved for her.

All around her in the expectant bustle of downtown's half holiday girls would be clinging to their escorts. Girls in white, their bathing suits bunched in brief cases. Girls in floppy hats. Girls with carmine lips going to the beaches, the parks, the amusement places. She, Susan Carey, would be alone.

SHE wondered even as she answered this man slowly and deliberately why she hesitated. There was something in her blood warning her against him though her pulses leaped to the temptation. She was young. She was alive and eager. It was little fun to spend her free time alone as she usually did, or worse still, listening to Aunt Jessie's complaints.

"Why don't you answer me, miss? Getting above herself, she is, since she's got a job. Forgets that I raised her!" Aunt Jessie's voice, raised to a whine, would drone on and on. Yes, Jack Waring's company would be a change from this. Still she refused. "Not this time," she said. She added, "I'm busy Saturday."

Unacknowledged and in the back of her brain lay the admission that she would not dare to go for fear of what Mr. Ernest Heath might say. His lean, aristocratic face rose before her. She thought of the distaste his fine eyes would express if he heard she was "gadding round" with Jack Waring. It would seem to cheapen her, Susan felt. Other girls did it—yes. Somehow she could not.

But Waring was not finished with her yet. Impudently he put his shaven, mocking face so close to Susan's that she could smell the scent of the lilac lotion he used. "Watch out," he whispered. "We Waring's usually get what we want."

Almost those audacious lips grazed the girl's flaming cheek. A voice broke in on the tableau. Ernest Heath's voice. Sarcastic and cold as ice it fell on Susan's horrified ears.

"Very charming, indeed! And now I should like to know what's going on here if you're not too busy to tell me!"

Scarlet, agast, Susan leaped to her feet.

She was speechless. No words came to her defense. She twisted her hands, looking in her eyes. Ernest Heath's thin lips drew together in a straight, forbidding line. He strode into the private office without another glance at the girl. Over his shoulder he threw these words:

"I'd like to see you at once, Waring. Alone."

Wedding Ahead

It'll be a wedding of the highest social importance when Marjorie Kano (above) New York debutante, and Elbert T. Gerry 2nd (below), polo star and clubman, are married in May. Their engagement has just been announced.

As a fitting climax to the many delightful social affairs arranged for the pleasure of Hope's distinguished visitors, including a number of state and nationally known women attending the twenty-fourth annual Arkansas State D. A. R. conference, meeting in our city this week was the Colonial reception given by the Pat Cleburn Chapter U. D. C. on Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Mary Carrigan on North Elm street. This spacious home, so well adapted to entertaining with its handsome furnishings including family heirlooms and interesting antiques, had an added beauty in its lovely decorations including stately Easter lilies, crab apple blossoms and bridal wreath in a setting of Southern smilax, palms and potted plants. In the dining room, the U. D. C. colors of red and white were most effectively used, the dining table laid with a lace cloth, was centered with a silver basket of red and white carnations flanked with red and white candles burning in silver holders, an added attraction in the dining room was a very clever arrangement of flags, and a spinning wheel with the negro mammy presiding. Receiving the guests at the door were Mrs. Fanny Garrett and Miss Nancy Ruth Carrigan, they were directed to the cloak room by Mrs. John Gibson, Mrs. Ben Goodless, Mrs. J. A. Henry and Miss Maggie Bell introduced the guests to the receiving line, which included the hostess, the officers of the Pat Cleburn chapter, the regents of the D. A. R. Chapter, Mrs. W. H. Arnold the state regent, Mrs. Martin L. Sigmon, and Miss Flora M. Gillentine of the National organization and other guests of note, Mrs. S. P. Davis of Little Rock, Mrs. John Weinman of Little Rock, Mrs. Massey of Hot Springs and Mrs. Woodbridge of Pine Bluff. Seated at the table were Mrs. James R. Henry, Sr. and Mrs. J. F. Gorin. Assisting in the living room and library were Mrs. George Sprague, Mrs. Chas. Locke, Mrs. Barrow, Mrs. Wilbur Jones, Mrs. Lee Stone, Mrs. D. H. Lipscomb, Mrs. Don Smith, Mrs. Parkey, Mrs. J. T. Hicks, Mrs. J. L. Jamison, Mrs. S. L. Reed, Mrs. H. C. Whitworth, Mrs. W. O. Shipley, Mrs. Ida Boyett and Miss Lucy Boyd. Attractive colonial costumes were worn by members of the house party and a number of the guests.

Another enjoyable social affair arranged for the entertainment of members attending the Arkansas State D. A. R. Conference meeting in our city this week, was the informal reception given by the John Cain Chapter D. A. R. in the City Library room on Tuesday evening following the opening program. The Library Board, with Mrs. Gus Haynes chairman of arrangements assisted by Miss Annie Jean Walker, Miss Evelyn Lewis, Mrs.

Henderson, Mrs. J. A. Henry, Mrs. J. T. West and Mrs. D. H. Lipscomb, and Mrs. Charles Haynes, Mrs. J. M. Houston, and Mrs. Frank Johnson dispensed hospitality. In the receiving line were Mrs. J. A. Henry, President of the Library Board, Mrs. W. H. Arnold, Regent, and Mrs. Martin L. Sigmon and Miss Flora M. Gillentine of the national organization. The library room was attractively decorated in southern smilax, lilies and other spring flowers. Frozen punch was served to about 100 guests.

Mrs. J. A. Bowman of Little Rock attending the D. A. R. conference is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. M. Kinser.

The Pat Cleburn Chapter, U. D. C. will hold their regular monthly meeting on Friday afternoon at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. John Barrow in Ozark. Conveyances will be provided for all. Mrs. Edgar Briant, Telephone 464-W.

Mrs. Richardson Allison of Tyler, Tex., is spending this week visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Reed and other relatives.

Mrs. Dave McMillan and daughter, Miss Frances McMillan of Arkadelphia are D. A. R. Conference guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Green and Mrs. Bessie Green.

The Cemetery Association will hold their regular monthly meeting on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the city hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Green had as D. A. R. conference guests, Mrs. Charles M. Clark of Arkadelphia, Mrs. J. D. Elin and little grandson, Donald Clark Book of Texarkana, Mrs. J. W. Phillips of Saratoga and Mrs. Laura Smith of Washington.

Patient at State Hospital Killed

Another Negro Blamed for Fatal Attack Following Quarrel

LITTLE ROCK.—Arthur Lee Wilson, aged 23, negro, of Helena, patient at the State Hospital for Nervous Diseases, was injured fatally at midnight Monday when he was attacked while asleep. He died an hour later from a crushed skull.

Officials at the hospital said Wilson was slain by another patient, Bill Jones, negro. Dr. Samuel G. Boyce, coroner, began an investigation yesterday morning. There were no witnesses except insane persons, it was said.

Jones is said to be regarded as one of the most dangerous patients at the hospital. He is subject to epileptic fits and physicians said he never forgot a grudge. Jones and Wilson had quarreled most of Monday, and Jones repeatedly tried to induce Wilson to fight. Wilson, admitted to the hospital February 22, had caused no trouble at the institution.

At 11:15 p. m. the guard on the floor left for midnight lunch. Negro trustees were left in charge of the floor. A few minutes after midnight, Dr. O. R. Holloway, a member of the staff, and Ralph Brooks, field attendant, returning from town, were attracted to the ward by the cries of another negro. They entered the ward and found Wilson dying. He was on his cot, his head hammered to a pulp. The negro who spread the alarm, said Jones "picked" the lock of the door to his room and, walking stealthily to Wilson's bed, struck four or five blows with a heavy slat from a bench. He thrust the slat through a barred window and went back to his bed. He failed to close the door. Jones vehemently denied killing Wilson, officials said.

The guard said he searched all patients before they retired for weapons of any sort, and did not find any. It is believed Jones sneaked the slat into his room and was lying on it when the guard entered.

Several years ago during a free-for-all fight in a ward, during which an attendant was beaten, Jones killed another negro patient, aged 100, attendants said.

Two Meet Death In Texas Collision

Texarkana Widow Killed Instantly, Truck Driver Burns to Death

TEXARKANA.—Mrs. Julia Blakesley, aged 50, who operated a boarding house on the Texas side of the city, was killed instantly, Ellis Etrom, 24, of Marietta, Tex., was burned to death and L. A. Wright, 55, also of Texarkana was injured seriously as the result of a head-on crash of a truck and an automobile at Cookville, Tex., on the Dallas highway, at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Blakesley's neck was broken. Etrom, driver of the truck, was rendered unconscious by the collision and was fatally burned in the cab of his truck, which caught fire as the gasoline tanks of both cars exploded. Wright, unconscious, was pulled from the wreckage just before the flames reached him. Both legs were broken and he suffered internal injuries.

E. E. Huffman, operator of a filling station, was the first to reach the wreck. Assisted by Constable J. R. Crambron, he pulled Wright and the body of Mrs. Blakesley from the wreckage. The flames had enveloped Etrom and the rescuers were forced to wait until the fire died down before taking him from the cab of his truck. His body was burned beyond recognition.

Midnight Show at Saenger Saturday

"Arsene Lupin," Feature, With John and Lionel Barrymore

The Saenger theatre will hold a midnight show Saturday night starting at 10:30. The feature picture to be shown is "Arsene Lupin," starring the two Barrymore brothers, John and Lionel. This is the first time in the history of moving pictures that these actors, considered by many to be the greatest on the screen, have ever played together in a picture. In addition, the Saenger announces that this picture while it will at the midnight show and on Sunday, will not be shown Monday, inasmuch as a new policy in change days is to be effected, which is as follows:

One picture for Saturday midnight preview and Sunday only. Another, Monday and Tuesday. One Wednesday only, at which time a bargain day price is to be put into effect making any seat in house 10 cents for children and 15c for adults. Another picture for Thursday and Friday, and the usual double program for Saturday only.

Coincidence

Irate Golfer: "You must be the worst caddy in the world."

Caddy: "Hardly. That would be too much of a coincidence."

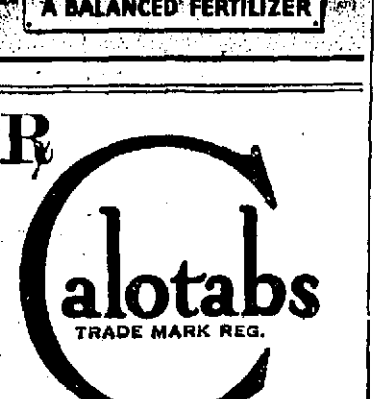

Funeral services for Stroman were held at his home at Marietta Tuesday afternoon. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Stroman of Naples, Tex., four brothers, Walter, Morris, Alvin and Elmer Stroman, and a sister, Lois Stroman.

Mrs. Blakesley will be buried at Mt. Pleasant Wednesday. She was on her way with Wright to visit her sister, Mrs. W. M. Smith. She is survived by four sons, J. Roy, Clarence and Thomas Blakesley; four daughters, Louise, Lillian and Veotis Blakesley and Mrs. Marvin Cross.

Wright was brought to Texarkana Tuesday afternoon on a train and was taken to the Cotton Belt hospital. He said the driver of the truck was on the wrong side of the road as the two machines met on top of a hill.

Before she left, Mrs. Blakesley was warned by two of her children not to make the trip, because they feared it would result fatally. They told of their premonition when taken from their classrooms and told that their mother had been killed. They are Thomas, 16, and Veotis, 17.

Limit On Medical Whisky Is Favored

Present Limit One Pint Per Patient Over Period of Ten Days

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—A proposed amendment to the Volstead prohibition act, eliminating the ten day limit in the frequency of medical whisky prescriptions for a single patient, was endorsed Wednesday by Dr. James M. Doran, commissioner of industrial alcohol.

The present limitation is one pint per patient in ten days. While he believes there should be no statutory limit on the frequency, Doran said he did not "believe" we should lose control of the number of prescriptions and the quantity that may be prescribed.

NEW SAENGER THEATRE ADMISSION PRICES

Children 10c Adults 25c

Read this "open" letter from E. W. Hecht, manager of the Saenger. It tells you why you should take advantage of this generous offer.

Dear Friends:

Down through the ages, centuries and centuries ago; in fact, ever since the world began, men and women have found that next to food and clothing there is no one thing so vital to the health and happiness of the human race as ENTERTAINMENT.

In ancient Greece and Rome there were the races and Gladiator contests. Later Germany found happiness in Folk songs and the travelling minstrels. England enjoyed the Shakespearean plays. Years later Americans forgot their troubles when the Showboat came to town. Today you and I are privileged to look at the world "through rose colored glasses" by means of a consummation of all the older forms of entertainment into the greatest of them all—The TALKING PICTURE. So you see entertainment has proven itself of vital importance to the building and happiness of every country and every age. Why? For the simple reason that human beings are so constituted that they cannot work, they cannot love, they cannot live unless they have fun, diversion, entertainment.

At the present time we are faced with a depression. Many of you people right here in Hope and vicinity have had your wages cut; many are out of work, while others are saving every dime for fear their present position may be of short duration. Consequently all of us feel that we must reduce our private expenses by depriving ourselves of one thing or another; but certainly, no sensible person would think of depriving themselves or their loved ones of such a necessity as medicine if they were ill. Yet my good friends that is exactly what you are doing when you cut the movies from your expense list. Moving pictures are not a luxury, as so many of us think, they are a necessity. They are the medicine that will cure our depression—saturated minds by giving up two hours of laughs, fun and travel into the land of make-believe that revives our spirit and inspires us to carry on to bigger and better things.

Realizing the vital importance of the above issue, especially at this time, the Malco Theatres, Inc., owners and operators of the Saenger Theatre in Hope, have generously decided to contribute towards the bringing of happiness and joy to every individual in this community by placing the admission price within reach of every one. Therefore, effective Tuesday, April 5th, the price of admission at the Saenger will be 10c for children and 25c for adults. This gives you the privilege of any seat in the house at any time, with the exception of Sunday and Mid-night Previews only, at which time the price will be Children 10c; Balcony 25c and Lower floor 35c.

Rest assured, however, that the quality of our pictures will at all times measure up to the high standard we have set in the past.

Let me urge you folks, attend the Movies at least once a week, not for the sake of the 25c you put into our till but because, in all sincerity, moving picture entertainment is vital to the health, happiness and successful future of every person in the world.

Assuring you all of my best wishes, I am

Sincerely
ELMER W. HECHT, Manager Saenger Theatre.

Prefers His Drink

HOUSTON.—Dry agents caught Eddie Garrett, negro, on a liquor charge. "Which would you rather have, a $100 fine suspended five years and not be able to take a drink, or a $50 fine payable in 10 days and be able to take a drink?" Judge Kennerly asked him. "Judge," Garrett replied, "Ah ain' got so much money, but ah believes ah'll take de $50 fine and pay it outright, cause ah gits er misery in mah stomach and it ain' nothin' but likker can set me right."
